OBJECTIVE

Seeking a position to utilize my skills and abilities in the field of website development. Ideal position would provide me with exposure to work on many development projects in different market segments and help me to increase my knowledge and expertise in this area.

---

SUMMARY

I am a website developer with strong command over HTML/CSS and Javascript web programming languages, and expertise in Content Management Systems such as Wordpress and Joomla. I have ten years of well-rounded experience, most of which has been as a freelancer working with various clients and as an independent contractor working with various design agencies. This has given me the ability to function independently on projects and meet demanded deadlines. In addition to great communication and analytical skills, my technical skills and learning ability has been highly admired and appreciated by past clients and colleagues and makes me a good fit to work in the exciting field of website development.
